Rooftop Solar Power Plant with Elevated Structure

A rooftop terrace featuring a large, custom-built solar panel canopy. The canopy is supported by a metal frame and has a grid of solar panels on top. Underneath, the floor is covered with artificial green grass. In the center, there is a dark wooden dining table surrounded by six chairs with white mesh backs. Several potted plants are scattered around the terrace, including some in red pots and others in white planters. A pink floral patterned banner is visible on the left side of the terrace. The background shows a residential building with a balcony and a clear sky.
